

Q. What is the abstract submission deadline?

A. Abstract submissions will close Tuesday, January 10, 2023, at 11:59 PM Eastern Time US.

Q. What is the fee for abstract submission?

A. A non-refundable $50.00 (fifty U.S. dollars) processing fee is required for each abstract submitted, payable online only. Purchase orders, checks, and electronic bank transfers will not be accepted.

The abstract submission fee is non-refundable whether the abstract is accepted for presentation or not. There are NO exceptions.

Q. Is there a character limit for my abstract?

A. Your abstract may contain no more than 2,300 characters (title, authors, institutions, abstract body and all spaces will be counted). The submission site will automatically calculate your abstract's characters and notify you if the submission exceeds the maximum character limit.

Q. Can I revise my abstract after it has been submitted?

A. Yes, you may log back into the submission system as often as necessary until 11:59 PM Eastern Time on Tuesday, January 10, 2023, to edit your abstract. After this date, you may not revise or resubmit an abstract in order to make corrections.

Q. How many abstracts can I submit?

A. Only one paper or poster may be read or presented by the same author at the Meeting, although a presenter may be a co-author of any number of papers.

Q. When will I find out if my abstract has been accepted for presentation?

A. Notification of the status of abstracts will be sent electronically to the official contact and presenter in mid-February, 2023.

Q. How do I withdraw my abstract?

A. If you decide to withdraw your abstract prior to the submission and editing deadline (11:59 PM Eastern Time US on Tuesday, January 10, 2023), you may log into the abstract submission system and withdraw your abstract there. After this deadline, if an abstract must be withdrawn, requests must be received no later than February 22, 2023. To withdraw your abstract, email abstracts@sidnet.org and include your name, abstract control ID# (7-digits) and abstract title.

Q. Whom do I contact with additional questions?

A. Please contact abstracts@sidnet.org with additional questions.
